

Support Washington's Endangered Wildlife

Sign up to support an "Endangered Wildlife" Vehicle License Plate!

If I sign the signature sheet, am I legally obligated to purchase this license plate? The petitions are not legally binding, but provide a method for contacting you with follow-up information, when the plates become available. Signatures also give the legislature a gauge of interest in a particular plate.

Can I sign a signature sheet for more than one license plate? YES! You can show your interest in purchasing multiple designs, and when available, you can purchase a different plate for each of your vehicles.

What, exactly, is an "Endangered Wildlife" license plate? It is a special license plate that will replace any current license plate you have on your vehicle. The "Endangered Wildlife" license plate will show an endangered killer whale and the inland marine waters of Washington.

When will it be available? If adopted by the Special License Plate Review Board and the 2005 Washington Legislature, the "Endangered Wildlife" license plates would go on sale January 1, 2006.

How much will it cost? For the first year, you would pay all license fees plus $40 for your original application. For renewals each year, you would pay all license fees plus $30.

Where will the proceeds go? Revenue generated from the sale of "Endangered Wildlife" license plates will be spent to recover Washington's endangered and threatened species and to identify species at risk. Activities include, but are not limited to:

- Population restoration and recovery
- Habitat restoration and improvement
- Improved population monitoring
- Determination of candidate species status
- Increased surveys for species at risk
- Improved educational materials
